WHOS (WE HELP OURSELVES) – SOUTHERN NSW REGION

An exciting opportunity exists to be part of a new and dynamic range of services WHOS SNSW is opening to service the Southern Region of New South Wales.

In collaboration with Southern NSW Local Health District, NSW Ministry of Health and the local community stakeholders WHOS will be establishing residential and non-residential services operating from its Goulburn premises expected to open January 2021.

About WHOS:

WHOS (We Help Ourselves) is one of the largest alcohol and other drug (AOD) non-government treatment providers in Australia offering a range of evidence-based therapeutic programs. WHOS has other services based in NSW and Queensland. Refer to website for details: www.whos.com.au

WHOS AOD Residential and Day Program Services incorporate AOD, mental health, withdrawal management, harm reduction initiatives and aftercare services. All services have the aim of assisting clients to achieve sustainable physical, mental and social health gains.

About WHOS Southern NSW Region (Goulburn):

WHOS Southern NSW Region will provide:

Residential services utilising the Therapeutic Community model of care. In therapeutic communities, the social environment, peer support and staff guide clients through the recovery process. We emphasise a holistic approach to treatment with a focus on the psychosocial issues that contribute to reducing a person's drug or alcohol dependence.

WHOS Day Programs promote social inclusion by not only targeting a client's AOD dependence, but also the underlying factors that have led to or may contribute to their substance use, such as mental health, crime and associated legal matters, accommodation, family, unemployment and other psychosocial issues.

Expressions of Interest are sought for the following positions:

- Manager
- Assistant Manager
- Administration Support Officer
- Registered Nurse
- Community Service Workers
- Day Program Worker
- Day Program Worker (Mobile Service)
