The ACT Alcohol, Tobacco and Other Drug Services Directory: Version 6

The ACT Alcohol, Tobacco and Other Drug Services Directory: Version 6 (the Directory) aims to support workers to make referrals to alcohol, tobacco and other drug (ATOD) services in the ACT, increase cross and intra-sectoral knowledge and foster collaborations. It also aims to better communicate the diverse range of services and programs in the ACT ATOD sector.

The Directory was developed in response to the identified need of the ATOD sector, and has been produced as a partnership between the Alcohol Tobacco and Other Drug Association ACT and the ACT ATOD Workers Group.

About the Alcohol Tobacco and Other Drug Association ACT

The Alcohol Tobacco and Other Drug Association ACT (ATODA) is the newly established peak body representing the non-government and government ATOD sector in the ACT. ATODA seeks to promote health through the prevention and reduction of the harms associated with ATOD.

ATODA works collaboratively to provide expertise and leadership in the areas of social policy, sector and workforce development, research, coordination, partnerships, communication, information and resources. ATODA is an evidence informed organisation that is committed to the principles of public health, human rights and social justice.

History and Process

The ACT ATOD Services Directory began in September 2007, as an activity of the ACT ATOD Workers Group. Information on the history and process is available in each version of the Directory. The services in this Directory were actively involved in the development of Version 6 in the following ways:

- ATODA presented information on the Directory at an ACT ATOD Workers Group meeting, and developed ideas to progress the collection of information for Version 6 of the Directory;
- Draft service profiles for Version 6 were provided to the ACT ATOD Workers Group members in October 2010;
- Final service profiles were sent to each service's Executive Director for endorsement; and,
- Version 6 of the Directory was launched electronically on www.atoda.org.au.

What's Not in Here

ATODA acknowledges the gaps in this resource. Limited resources meant that only the 12 ATOD services that are funded by ACT Health could be profiled. These services encompass the 39 programs that are profiled within this Directory.

Seeking Advice from an ACT Alcohol, Tobacco and Other Drug Service

Each sector in the ACT is engaged in the delivery of services that respond to different members of the community who may be affected by ATOD issues.

The literature overwhelmingly states that in order to better support people affected by ATOD issues, the service system needs to take a holistic approach and work in collaboration across sectors.

Early recognition of an ATOD related problem is important. It can enable intervention to occur before dependence has developed, or before problems become more complex and difficult to treat. However, ATOD problems can be difficult to detect.

By working together, services and sectors can take many practical steps to better support and improve the health and wellbeing of the ACT community.

The ATOD sector provides resources that can be utilised across sectors including information, education and support on treatment planning. The many programs listed in this Directory provide a contact point for cross-sectoral workers to gain assistance regarding the identification, treatment and management of ATOD issues.

Tip: If you are not sure which service may best suit someone, call the Alcohol and Drug Program, ACT Health on (02) 6207 9977 for information and advice.

Making an Effective Referral to an ACT Alcohol, Tobacco and Other Drug Service

People are presenting at ATOD and allied services with increasingly complex issues. This increasing demand on the service system requires workers to offer appropriate and effective support and referrals. Although this Directory provides a useful tool to support referrals, it is vital that workers also further familiarise themselves with individual services and their referral processes.

Making an effective referral to an ACT ATOD service requires an up to date knowledge of the diverse and multidisciplinary range of services that work with people who are experiencing ATOD issues. This will ensure that accurate and clear information is provided to people about what services are available to them. Workers must also be aware of barriers that people may face when accessing an ATOD service to ensure that a timely and suitable referral is provided.

The choice of referral processes depends on the needs of the person, organisational policies and agencies' referral processes. Referral processes can take many forms, from a facilitated over-the-phone referral to the utilisation of shared referral tools.

Below are some tips that may help a worker when providing a referral to an ACT ATOD service:

What is a referral?

A referral is a process by which a worker works with a person / client to:

- Assess and prioritise their immediate needs; and,
- Provide assistance to identify and access services (such as setting up appointments and providing transportation).

Why engage in the referral process?

It is important to fully engage in the referral process, as people who aren't supported to engage in their referral often have:

- A high attrition rate following their first appointment;
- A high rate of 'no shows';
- No guarantee of a good match between person / client and the service to which they have been referred; and,
- Reluctance to return to the place of initial contact (ie: your service).

Who do I refer?

A worker can refer any person / client who may benefit from treatments or services that their service may not be able or willing to provide. Remember that for the person / client, referral is a voluntary process that should always involve them.

What type of services do I refer to?

This Directory contains a range of ATOD specific referral options. For a list of the range of primary, secondary and tertiary services provided in the ACT see Tips for Engaging with the ACT Alcohol, Tobacco and Other Drug Sector (see page 7).

How can I support an effective referral?

When making a referral it is important to liaise with a relevant ATOD service and find out more about what they do and how they provide their service (such as; what is their treatment philosophy? What general or specialist services do they offer? What is their access criteria?)

With the consent of the person / client, provide information to support the referral. Supported involvement in referral has been associated with higher uptake and retention in treatment.

Some tips to support a referral can include:

- Arranging appointments for the person / client and giving them instructions on how to get there;
- Providing information to the person / client about the service they have been referred to;
- Building expectations of good outcomes; and,
- Asking permission to call the person / client to follow up with the outcome of the referral.

When to make a referral to an AOD service?

It is important to refer when the person / client requests a referral or when a service is unable to respond to the specific needs of that individual. ATOD may be the primary presenting issue; however, these issues are often identified when the person presents for another matter. Your role in making an effective referral will depend on:

- Your specific skills, knowledge and abilities to intervene with ATOD issues;
- The amount of time you are prepared to invest in responding to these issues;
- Your decision to engage in a shared care relationship with other service providers; and,
- Your relationship and willingness to continue providing support to the person / client.

Provides activities that aim to facilitate opportunities for the continual improvement of the ATOD workforce, and that build the capacity of the ACT ATOD service system including:

ATOD Workers Group:

A group comprised of one nominated representative from each of the 12 ACT Health funded ATOD services. The group meets monthly and participates in the development, implementation, guidance, evaluation and promotion of key sector support activities.

ATOD Sector Website (www.atoda.org.au):

Provides information about, and is a central contact point for, the ACT ATOD sector. The website is regularly updated and includes information on the ACT ATOD sector and ATODA activities.

ATOD Services Directory (this document):

Provides profiles of ATOD services in the ACT. The Directory aims to support workers to make referrals to ACT ATOD services, increase cross and intra-sectoral knowledge and foster collaborations. It also aims to better communicate the diverse range of services and programs in the ACT ATOD sector. The directory is produced every 6 months and is available electronically at www.atoda.org.au.

+ Program/s

ACT ATOD Sector eBulletin:

Provides a concise summary of information, important developments, publications, events and other information relevant to ATOD Workers in the ACT. Services and individuals can subscribe to the eBulletin by visiting www.atoda.org.au.

ATOD Sector Forums:

A forum for ATOD workers that aims to provide an opportunity for workers to network, share information, learn about developments in, and relevant to, the sector and access professional development opportunities.

Training and Professional Development Calendar:

Compiles training and professional development opportunities available to workers from the ATOD and allied sectors. The calendar is produced in partnership with the Youth Coalition of the ACT and the Mental Health Community Coalition ACT. Individuals and services are invited to contribute to the calendar by emailing info@atoda.org.au. The Calendar is available for download from www.atoda.org.au.

ACT Drug Action Week Planning Group:

Brings together key stakeholders to plan coordinated activities and develop a calendar of events for Drug Action Week in the ACT.

ATOD Sector Conference:

Aims to facilitate access to the latest evidence relating to best practice and seeks to strengthen the capacity, skills and knowledge base of participants.

ATOD Awards:

An annual event that aims to recognise, promote and reward outstanding practice in the ATOD field in the ACT.

Training and Professional Development:

Provides occasional specific training and professional development opportunities for ATOD workers.

ATOD Minimum Qualification Strategy Project:

Leads the implementation of the ACT ATOD Minimum Qualification Strategy and manages a pool of funding to support ACT Health funded ATOD workers to reach the ACT ATOD Minimum Qualification. The Project aims to ensure the maintenance of a competent and professional ATOD workforce in the ACT.

+ Comorbidity	Provides the Comorbidity Project, funded under the Australian Government Improved Services for People with Drug and Alcohol Problems and Mental Illness Initiative (the Improved Services Initiative). The Comorbidity Project aims to assist and support non-government ACT ATOD services to undertake service improvement processes to better identify and manage clients experiencing comorbid ATOD and mental health issues. The Project facilitates the ACT Comorbidity Strategic Working Group to provide support and strategic guidance to the Project, the General Practice Engagement Working Group, the Grant Recipients Network and associated activities.
+ Tobacco Management:	ATODA is the lead organisation of the Workplace Tobacco Management Project (the Project), which aims to increase the awareness, and support the implementation, of Workplace Tobacco Management Policies; and to address the impacts of harms associated with smoking behaviours for the staff in nine programs within the mental health, alcohol, tobacco and other drug (ATOD) and youth sectors. The Project provides support to participating workplaces and staff to develop and implement workplace tobacco management workplans and policies. This includes the provision of NRT to participating staff. The research component of the Project aims to contribute to the evidence base regarding smoking cessation. This Project has received ethics approval from the ACT Health Human Research Ethics Committee.
+ Cost	Some activities may incur a small cost.
+ Staff	4 full-time staff and research and evaluation consultancy support.
+ Other	Needs-based workforce development activities and projects are provided.

+ Program/s Provides programs that aim to divert people apprehended for drug use or drug related offences from the judicial system into the health system:

Police Early Diversion (PED):

For people who have been apprehended by the AFP for possession of a small amount of illicit drugs (2 cannabis plants or amount less than 25 grams; 25% of trafficable amount of all other illicit drugs). The AFP can divert offenders following arrest for assessment and referral to treatment. Treatment is provided by an approved ACT agency and can include education, counselling, withdrawal, pharmacotherapy or residential rehabilitation. Compliance with treatment is determined by the Diversion Service staff, and if compliant, a report is made to the AFP and no conviction is recorded. Non-compliance is reported back to the AFP, and the AFP determines what action should be taken (if any), but can result in a charge proceeding to court.

Early Intervention Pilot Project (EIPP):

A Commonwealth funded initiative to provide AFP alternatives in apprehension of young people (12 – 17 years) found to be intoxicated or in possession of alcohol. Current funding runs to 2013. The AFP can divert young people to attend for assessment and education / brief intervention with Diversion Service staff. Non-compliance is reported back to the AFP, and the AFP determines what action should be taken (if any), but can result in a charge proceeding to Court. Information related to alcohol and support is also provided to parents and families. Young Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people can be assessed by the ADP ALO (see page 29) and referred to culturally appropriate agencies for the education/brief intervention.

Court Alcohol and Drug Assessment Service (CADAS):

A pre-sentencing and sentencing treatment option for people charged with alcohol and other drug related offences. The goals are to reduce recidivism during the Court period and to engage the client in treatment. CADAS staff service the Supreme, Magistrate and Children's Courts, and provide an immediate alcohol and other drug assessment and recommend an appropriate treatment plan. If a person is engaged with a treatment plan, while being released on bail or with CADAS supervision conditions noted on their Good Behaviour Order (GBO), the CADAS clinician will monitor attendance and report outcomes to the Court. Non-compliance does not necessarily result in a penalty but is taken into account by the Court at sentencing or by the Department of Justice and Community Safety — who also supervise on GBO.

+ Program/s (continued)	Treatment Referral Program (TRP): This program is no longer available as a referral via the Courts however provisions exist under Section 20 of the Drugs of Dependence Act (1989) for the Treatment Assessment Panel to complete supervision of current Treatment Orders.
