National Drug and Alcohol Awards

Honour Roll

MEDIA RELEASE

21 June 2013

The National Indigenous Drug and Alcohol Committee (NIDAC) of the Australian National Council on Drugs congratulates Mrs Wendy Casey on her induction into the National Drug and Alcohol Honour Roll, announced last night at the National Drug and Alcohol Awards dinner held at Parliament House in Canberra.

Induction into the Honour Roll is made to acknowledge and publicly recognise outstanding and tireless efforts made over many years by drug and alcohol workers' to address drug and alcohol issues.

Mrs Wendy Casey belongs to the Karajarri and Yawuru people from the west Kimberley region of Western Australia. Wendy, who is currently the Acting Director of Aboriginal Health at the WA Department of Health, has for more than 22 years, specialised in the drug and alcohol field. She has worked within the community controlled and government sectors, in metropolitan and remote area regions, and in a variety of roles including community development; counselling; managing clinical services; policy, workforce, and resource development; and research. Wendy is also a current Executive member of NIDAC.

NIDAC extends its appreciation to Wendy for her tremendous commitment to the welfare of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people and wishes her all the best in her continued endeavours.
